HOLLY GETS A VERDICT OF SECOND DEGREE.

Murderer of Simeon Donahue by Direction of the Court to Jury in His Trial! Escapes Gallows.

FOUR WITNESSES EXAMINED.

Application for New Trial in Miller Case—Verdict in Hesper Trial—Brice Murder Trial Was Taken Up This Morning.

Uniontown, March 22.—The jury in the second degree is the verdict which was rendered against Clifford Holly, charged with the murder of Simeon Donahue at Masontown, October 23, 1904. The verdict was the result of a motion by Attorney Kennedy, who represented the accused man, made after the Commonwealth's four witnesses had testified. Judge Umbel instructed the jury to return a verdict of guilty to murder in the second degree. This was done and the jury was dismissed shortly before eight o'clock Wednesday evening.

The task of empanelling a jury in the Holly case took nearly all of Wednesday. Challenges were numerous on both sides, and an unusually large number of men declared that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment. The men selected were J. M. Burnworth, Henry Clay township; J. C. Cunningham, Belleverne; W. S. Colburn, Springfield township; Daniel Essington, Perry township; Homer Eicher, Upper Tyone township; Robert W. Leibelger, Connellsville; F. W. Merriman, Wharton township; Ross J. Morrow, New Haven; D. W. Pondstone, German township; Curtin Smith, Smithfield; Thomas Stuman, Uniontown; Robert Wirsing, Georges township.

Holly listened calmly to the words of the prosecutor, J. E. Sheppard, who questioned as to his guilt or innocence, and replied "Not Guilty" in a firm, clear voice.

In Timms, in whose restaurant the trouble occurred, was the first witness called. Timms testified that he had gone upstairs to bed about 9 o'clock. William Mordew, a friend of Timms, had been in the habit of staying at his place over night when he was in Masontown, and reached there about 11 o'clock on the night of the murder. Timms admitted Mordew and was about to close the door when Clifford Holly came up and asked if he could get something to eat. Holly sat down and ate six sandwiches and drank two cups of tea. The bill amounted to 40 cents, and in payment he offered a $20 bill. Immediately after Holly had paid the money, James McNulty and Simeon Donahue walked in.

William Mordew testified that he engaged in conversation with McNulty, who volunteered to set up pop to the crowd. Holly declined to take anything. While McNulty, Timms and Mordew were talking together, Donahue and Holly engaged in a political discussion. All the witness heard was an argument over the various Presidents. Mordew said that he did not know that the two men were angry until he heard both declare that they would not move an inch for anyone. Mordew then said that he saw Holly reach for his coat pocket, and being a friend of Timms, he went up to Holly and told him that if he would shoot in there, for it would hurt Timms' business. He no longer got the words out than Holly said twice, Donahue, who was hit by one of the shots, came forward, and the two men grappled. The first shot hit Mordew in the muscle of his arm, and both he and Timms started upstairs. Mordew telling Timms to get his gun.

James McNulty testified to the above details and said further that after Holly and Donahue grappled, Holly broke away from Donahue, struck a blow at McNulty and started to follow Timms and Mordew upstairs. He got about half way up, turned back and went outside. McNulty ran after a physician. Donahue's last words to McNulty were: "I'm all in, Jim."

This testimony, in its entirety, was corroborated by all three witnesses. Donahue expired a few minutes after being shot and was dead before medical assistance arrived. Holly, in leaving, left his hat upon the counter and his pistol on the floor. He was not seen again by any of the witnesses.

Attorney George B. Jeffries has made a motion for a new trial and asked to file his reasons within a few days in the case of Fred Miller, convicted of the larceny of hides from A. J. Humminger, a Uniontown butcher.

A STRENUOUS LESSON.

Connellsville Music Teacher Attempted to Use Chair on Young Lady Pupil at Smithfield.

Smithfield, March 22.—H. J. Younk, a music teacher from Connellsville, who has been following his vacation here for the past two months and making his headquarters at the home of B. P. Bradford on Water street, left there under a ban Tuesday night. He had been giving Mr. Bradford's daughter, Allen, a girl of 15 years, lessons on the piano playing his board and losing this way. Younk is an old bachelor, 45 or 50 years old. He seemed to be infatuated with the girl's mother, who he understood to dominate her actions and social relations with her young lady and pensioner friends. Hence until his action had become annoying to the young lady.

Thursday he fell into a rage with her, because of a difference of opinion between them in reference to a piece of music that she had been practicing. He commenced abusing her by vile and blasphemous epithets, threatened to kill her, and proceeded to execute the threat by attempting to brain her with a chair. He was only prevented from doing this by the intervention of the neighbors who came in at the opportune moment and grabbed the chair as it was descending, waving it off the blow which deflected the chair till it struck the wall, breaking through with her daughter and daughter-in-law, ran into an adjoining room and locked themselves in. Younk raved around for some time after when he was taken to the jail. It is said that he took the 4:27 train for Connellsville. Mr. Bradford and his two sons were away at work and it was left for Younk that they were not present.

GETS FINE DELIVERY.

Somerset will get fine delivery on June 1.

REGULAR GAS FAILURE.

It Came Just One Day Earlier in Scotland This Week and Closed Mills Down.

Scotland, March 22.—The regular weekly gas failure came a day sooner this week, closed the mills down last night, and made people who depend upon gas for their heating suffer from the cold. For three Fridays and two Saturdays the gas has regularly failed. Apparently the gas line is engaged with almost human intelligence in the regular way with which it fails to deliver the goods. The failure of the gas supply has worked a good deal of trouble with the mill employees and working on Saturday has become quite the custom. It is said that an economic construction of the gas line is responsible for the annoying and expensive breaks, the change of the temperature ruling the ground where the line passes over the tops of hills and pulling the pipes apart. They are not laid as railroad rails and are in a calculation for contraction and expansion. The old gas line that came in from Grapoville was laid well under ground, and sleeves were over every joint, so that the pipes could give under any change of temperature. The gas came on again this morning and the mills are at work.

AWAY GOES GEORGE MCBETH.

Ordered Out of County and Sheriff Took Him to Bradford.

George McBeth, who pleaded guilty to violating the election law, was taken to Bradford, Pa., Tuesday, by Sheriff Kiefer. At the November election, he attempted to vote under another name. It appeared that he was influenced by others and sentenced was withheld from the understanding that he leave the county.

He neglected to leave, and was taken to jail on January 1, where he remained until Tuesday.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 22.—[Special.]—The militia was in service last night and all is quiet.

A STRIKE IS CERTAIN.

Says one of the Coal Operators at Indianapolis Conference.

POWER OF RAILROAD INTERESTS.

So Far They Have Conceded Nothing and the Miners Have Been Just as Obdurate and Insistent in Their Demands.

Indianapolis, March 22.—[Special.]—The rock of disagreement looms in confronting the joint committee of miners and mine operators which reached a third session this morning. Unless some leader is found to guide the representatives of industrial forces through the shoals a wreck seems inevitable. The scale committee of 50 members has been found unwieldy and unyielding. Today probably a sub-committee of 16 will be appointed. The great railroad interests are in power among the operators, is credited with the statement to say that any agreement between operators and miners has been found to be absolutely impossible.

An operator, whose name cannot be quoted, but whose influence is prevailing among the operators, is credited with the statement to say that any agreement between operators and miners has been found to be absolutely impossible. A motion to adjourn the do was made in the joint scale committee session this morning after a hot argument, in which the miners attempted to force the consideration of the wage increase question. A recess was taken before the motion was seconded.

FOR GOVERNOR.

Speculation Among the Pennsylvania Delegation at Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—The Pennsylvania delegation here has been in the city for some days and has been speculating in the matter of a candidate for governor. It is said that the general opinion of opinion was that Mr. Acheson would make a very able candidate and could be nominated, did he consent to enter the contest. Thus far, however, Mr. Acheson has not declared himself a candidate, and it is said that he will seek a re-nomination to Congress in his district. Representative E. L. Bunker of Williamsport is a declared candidate, but there is as yet no evidence of a strong popular response to his ambitions.

JOINED THE UNION.

Connellsville Band Initiated the Uniontown Aggregation.

The bands released together after the meeting, making a band of 90. They then went to J. N. Hagan's restaurant, where a banquet was served for 100 persons. There are now 48 union musicians in Connellsville and Uniontown.

THE EGGS WERE BAD.

Elmer Ansell Made Good For Consignment Disposed of to J. N. Trump of Connellsville.

Bad eggs proved profitable to Elmer Ansell of Springfield township yesterday although he made good sum out of them several weeks ago. About six weeks ago he disposed of a lot of eggs to J. N. Trump, whose daughter, Miss Lena, bought them for first country eggs, just from the hen coops in the mountains. Miss Trump paid $6.25 in good money for the bunch and out of the first two dozen twenty-four were returned to her with an evil smell that convinced her that the freshness of the eggs had long since passed.

Mr. Trump notified Ansell to come to his place and take the eggs away quick, and to give him his money back. Ansell wrote him a letter telling him to go to a warmer climate and did not appear in town for weeks. Yesterday Mr. Trump saw him selling pure unadulterated maple syrup about the streets and he rushed to Springfield Miller's office where he secured a warrant for his arrest. Ansell put up a brave front when he went into a magistrate's office and wanted to make good many broad statements when he indignantly announced that he would take the eggs for fresh ones.

Squire Miller reminded him that he could now be prosecuted for huckstering without a license and Ansell wilted and agreed to pay the costs of the case and return the price of the eggs to Mr. Trump.

WANTS DAMAGES.

F. C. Leighty Sues the West Penn Railway Company for $20,000 for Injuries He Received.

Frederick C. Leighty has entered suit against the West Penn Railway Company to recover $20,000 for damages alleged to have been received through the negligence of employees of that corporation. Leighty claims that on April 8, 1905, while driving along a narrow road, near Vanderhill, a car approached in the opposite direction at a high rate of speed. Leighty was driving four horses, attached to a wagon. The horses frightened at the car, and it is alleged that the motorist, instead of slackening speed, continued to blow the whistle of the car which frightened the horses more.

The leading animal swerved on to the track, and Leighty dismounted to calm the horse. Before he could reach the horses, he was struck by the car, the animal was struck by the car, the force of the collision turning the team and wagon around knocking Leighty down and running over him. He was compelled to have a leg amputated at the thigh as a result of the accident, and wants the damages asked. He is represented by Attorneys Horvitz and Frasher.

TWO MEN KILLED.

In Quarrel Over a Whip Near Meyersdale Wednesday.

Meyersdale, March 22.—Pietro Stefano shot and killed Charles Cunningham, a miner, near Meyersdale, last night at 9 o'clock, and is held to run away he himself was shot dead by an unknown person, supposedly a friend of Cunningham. Cunningham quarreled over the ownership of a whip. When they were struggling for its possession, the former suddenly whipped out a revolver and shot. His intention was to kill Stefano, but the bullet fell below the heart. Before Stefano could get away from the crowd which quickly gathered, there was a sudden crack of a revolver and Stefano fell dead with a bullet wound in his heart. The double tragedy was near the Shaw mines of the Somerset Coal Company, where all the men were employed as miners.

IT IS FROWNED UPON.

Principal Apparently Does Not Favor Students' Original Program

IN THE SCOTSDALE SCHOOLS.

Conference Held Between Principal and Senior Class Over Proposition That Majority of Directors Favor Names of 20 Revolutionists.

Scottdale, March 22.—The petition of the boys and girls that comprise the Senior class of the Scottdale High School that they be permitted to give an original entertainment at Commencement, which also out of 10 of the members of the Board of Education signed and favored, and which has been commended by the newspapers and the people, does not apparently meet with the approval of Principal Edgar Reed as expressed in a meeting that he had with the class this week.

Principal Reed, who had evidently read the newspaper stories regarding the desire for a change from the old fashioned commencement program composed solely of orations and essays and the optimistic views expressed by editors upon the value of such a departure opened the conference with the pertinent supposition that the class had carried the tale to the newspapers. Whether this was indicative of surprise that the newspapers should recognize something unique or whether the boys and girls, in his opinion, were too perniciouly active in the capacity of budding press agents, and promoters of public school publicity, was left to the imagination of the auditors.

The class promptly disclaimed any connection with their plans becoming the property of the reading public, and some even went so far as to ingeniously voice their thought of surprise that newspapers should welcome the small doings of the class.

The principal declared, it is asserted, that in all fairness to the schools from each member of the class should be carried out. He further amplified the idea that commencement should be solemn and that no fun was wanted, and that the public speaking at commencement would fit the boys and girls for those times when they would be called upon to speak in public. It is said that some one of the arguments the makeup involved in the entertainment that the class had planned would not equally fit the members to speak in public in later years.

The conference was a very amiable one, and the students, in their efforts to get an audience with the remaining six directors and secure their names to the petition, feeling that these latter, like the majority, desire to give the class what the latter thinks they are in this case entitled to.

Several of the Seniors were discussing the matter animatedly last evening, and the general belief of the class seemed to be adequately expressed when one of them said that it is thought that the class has acquired enough sense in their High School training, under the competent teachers they have to refrain from saying or doing anything calculated to grate upon the finer feelings or show too much license resulting from their home rearing.

"Our parents and our friends will be present and we do not think we shall insult any of them at commencement."

The members of the Senior class are Maudie Brown, Frederick Dieker, Rae Ellis, Blanche Evans, Hubert Dieker, Homer Grant, Marie Kerr, Joan Koonsey, John Hebert, Mae Kelly, Grace Loucks, Blanche Lowry, Hattie Miller, Mabel Myer, Nina McFarland, Frank Porter, Ella Phelan, Jessie Seeman, Oma Stoner and Wesley Wiley.

SPEAKS TO WORKERS.

President Makes Known His Attitude on Various Questions at Issue.

RECEIVES LARGE DELEGATION

Headed by Gompers to 100 Leaders of Union Labor Go to White House to Make Complaint on Various Matters—Roosevelt Replies at Length.

Washington, March 22.—President Roosevelt received a large body of the representatives of organized labor at the White House, and talked to them about their urgent request for the enactment of labor measures now pending before congress.

Samuel Gompers, president, and Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, headed the delegation, which consisted of about 100 members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, and officials of the organizations which comprise the Federation. Practically all of the important labor organizations of the country were represented in the delegation.

The men called by appointment at the executive offices at 2:30 p. m., and were received soon afterward by President Roosevelt in his private office and the adjoining cabinet room.

Secretary Morrison read to the president a memorial of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, urging action on the various demands for legislation being made by the organized labor interests of the country. The memorial dwelt particularly on the 8-hour law and its enforcement on government work, including the Panama canal, and the immigration laws, especially the Chinese exclusion laws.

President Roosevelt, after listening to the statements, replied in an extended address. On the subjects of general immigration and the exclusion of Chinese labor, the president indicated that he was in practical accord with them, but on some other matters, he differed with them radically. The president's remarks are given out at the White House in part as follows:

If your body objects to the passage of the proposed anti-injunction bill I have no question that you can stop it, for there is no one in congress who is not against it; though I believe that a goodly number both of capitalists and wage earners, who are concerned primarily as citizens, favor it. The bill was worked over and added into its present shape in conference, between representatives of the railroad organizations, of the department of justice, and of the bureau of corporations, with me. It is just as far as I think it should go. I am not in favor of limiting the right of injunction, at any rate no arguments have been advanced which make me think it should go farther. I do not believe it has any chance of passing, because there has been great criticism in both houses of congress against the attitude of the administration in going so far as we have gone; and if you think it is far enough, why will you have it earthily difficult in killing the bill. I think the proposed law a most admirable one and I sincerely wish it could be put through.

Proposed Injunction Law.

As for the right of injunction, it is absolutely necessary to have this power lodged in the courts, though of course any abuse of the power is strongly to be reprobated. During the four and a half years that I have been president I do not remember an instance where the government has invoked the right of injunction against a combination of laborers. We have invoked it a score of times against combinations of capital; I think possibly often. These, though we have secured the issuance of a restraining order in a number of cases against capitalistic combinations, it has happened that we have never tried to secure an injunction against a combination of labor. But I understand the contention, if I ever thought it necessary, that I thought a combination of laborers were doing wrong, I would apply for an injunction against them just as quick as against so many capitalists. You speak of the 8-hour law. You speak of the signature of the executive, bears upon the signature of the appropriation bill containing the money for expenditure on the Panama canal, with the proviso that the 8-hour law shall not there apply. If your statement is intended to mean that no opportunity was given for a hearing before me, then the statement is not in accordance with the facts. There was ample opportunity that any one could, but not a single request for such a hearing came to me. I received, however, some hundreds of telegrams and letters requesting the veto of the entire appropriation bill because it contained that proviso.

8-hour Law on Canal. Frankly, I found it difficult to believe that you were writing and telegraphing with any kind of knowledge of the conditions in the case I believe emphatically in the 8-hour law for our own people in our own country. But the conditions of labor, such as we have in work with the Panama canal, are so different that there is no possible analogy between them, and an 8-hour law for the Panama canal is an absurdity.

Every one of you know that we cannot get white labor, cannot get labor of the United States, to go down to Panama and work. We are driven to extremes in the effort to get any kind of labor at all. That is the situation, and we are working chiefly with negro labor from the West Indies. The usual result in the employment of these men is that they work Tuesday and Thursday fairly well, Wednesday and Thursday there is a marked falling off, and by Friday and Saturday not more than a half, sometimes less than a fourth, of them will be at work. You happen to be the effort to get for you what I think you ought to have in connection with the 8-hour law when you make a request that is indefensible, and to grant which would mean delay and injury to the work on the isthmus.

Asks For Specifications. At your earliest conference, please lay before me in detail any complaints you have of violations of the 8-hour law. Where I have power I will see that the law is obeyed. All I ask is that you give me the cases. I will take them up, and if they prove to be sustained by the facts, I shall see that the law is enforced.

Now, about the Chinese exclusion. The number of Chinese now in this country is, if I remember aright, some six or seven thousand. So far from there being a great influx of the Chinese, the fact is that the number has steadily decreased. There are fewer Chinese than there were 10 years ago, fewer than there were 20 years ago, fewer than there were 30 years ago. Unquestionably, some scores of cases occur each year where Chinese laborers get in either by being smuggled over the Mexican and Canadian borders, or by coming in under false certificates, but the steps that we have taken, the changes in the consular that have been made within the last few years in the Orient, and the effort to conduct examinations in China before the immigrants are allowed to come here, are materially reducing even the small number of cases that do occur. But even as it is, the number of these cases is insignificant. There is no appreciable influx of Chinese laborers, and there is not the slightest or remotest danger of any, the whole story that has been worked up on the subject is a pure chimer.

Must Keep Coolies Out. It is my deep conviction that we must keep out of this country every Chinese laborer, skilled or unskilled—every Chinaman of the coolie class. This is what the proposed law will do; it will be done as effectively as under the present law, and the present law is being handled with the utmost efficiency. But I will do everything in my power to make it easy and desirable for the Chinese of the business and professional classes, the Chinese travelers and students, to come here and I will do all I can to secure their good treatment when they come, and no laboring man has anything whatever to fear from this policy. I have a right to challenge you as good American citizens to support that policy, and in any event I shall stand unflinchingly for it, and no man can say with sincerity that on this or that point I am not doing my best.

You have spoken of the immigration laws. I believe not merely that all possible steps should be taken to prevent the importation of laborers under any form, but I believe further, that this country ought to make a resolute effort from now on to prevent the coming to the country of men with a standard of living so low that they tend, by entering into unfair competition with the labor of our own people, to reduce the standard of living of our own people. Not one of you can go further than I will go in the effort steadily to raise the status of the American wage-worker so long as, while doing it, I can obtain a clear conscience and the certainty that I am doing what is right. I will do all in my power to help the man except to do what is wrong, and I will do that for him or for anyone else.

Quality of Immigrants. We must not let our natural sentiment for succoring the oppressed, and our sympathy for the foreigner, lead us into that warped moral and political attitude of trying to succor them at the expense of pulling down our own people. Labor should be encouraged to keep out all immigrants who do not show that they have the right stuff in them to enter into our life on terms of decent equality with our own citizens.

This is needed first in the interests of the laboring man, but furthermore in the interests of all of us as American citizens. The bonds that unite all good citizens are stronger, or by far than the differences which divide them, the men who do one kind of labor and the men who do another. As for immigrants, we cannot have too many of the right kind, and we should have none at all of the wrong kind; and there are no right kind if we can be fairly sure that their children and grandchildren can meet on terms of equality our children and grandchildren, so as to try to be decent citizens together and to work together for the uplifting of the republic.

Where He Draws the Line. Now a word as to the petitioning of employees to congress. That stands in no shape or way on a par with the petitioning of men not employed by the government. I cannot hear, and will not have, when I can prevent it, the petitioning of men not employed by the government for government action, going to congress and asking for increase of pay without the permission of the heads of the departments. This applies to postmasters, to army and navy officers, to clerks in the government departments, to laborers. It applies to each and all, and must apply, as a matter of simple discipline.
